GREECE PERMITS DULGAR ADVANCE

Troops Withdrawn Following
Central Powers' Pledges.

(By the International News Service.)
London, Aug. 24.—The jumbled situation in the Balkans began to clear today, both politically and from the military standpoint. The Greek government made its position on the invasion of Greek Macedonia definitely known.
There will be no effort made officially to hinder the Bulgarian invasion of Greece, which is rapidly converting wide sections into a battle field.
The Greek troops, which engaged Bulgarians in the Seres district, were ordered to withdraw and it was made known that the central empires have promised that all Greek territory seized by the Bulgarians will be returned.
Roumania still hangs in the balance. The heaviest fighting continues on the two wings of the 150-mile front which the Bulgarians are attempting to drive in. Following what Sofia describes as a heavy defeat of the French in the Struma Valley, the battle in this region has resolved itself into a furious artillery duel. The Bulgarian victory occurred on Monday, the French being driven across the Struma, according to an official report by the Bulgarian war office.

Tried to Trap Liner.

"Eight British warships," he said today, "cruised off the American coast, surrounded by numerous steam trawlers that were used to catch submarine nets."
It is understood that the trawlers spoken of by Koenig were American fishing vessels chartered by the British to act as scouts and obtain information of the submarine time for sailing as well as to lay traps for the little stranger when she started on her perilous adventure.
During the whole voyage of 4,200 miles the boat sailed under only a distance of 40 miles.

PARTIES WOULD BUY ELECTIONS

Senators Say Huge Funds Are Being Raised.

By ANDREW R. KELLEY.
Charges that the Republican National Committee proposed to buy the election, counter charges that the Democrats have raised a gigantic campaign fund to re-elect President Wilson, and implied threats of a filibuster that may delay the adjournment of Congress, followed the announcement of Senator Owen, of Oklahoma, in the Senate late yesterday that he proposed to force a vote on the corrupt practices act.

Senator Owen said that he would call up the bill immediately after the emergency revenue measure had been voted upon, and the twenty-four hours' debate would show whether or not the Republicans were sincere in their discussion or were attempting a filibuster.

Opposition from the other side comes from the fact that they want to buy the election, he said. "I am informed, on good authority, that the Democrats have already raised a gigantic fund, and now they want to buy the stable door," said Senator Penrose.

Senator Gallinger inquired if the Democrats had observed the fact that the Republican National Committee was soliciting $100,000 in common shares and $300,000,000 in preferred.

"Four years ago the Democratic National Committee solicited $100,000 in common shares and $300,000,000 in preferred," replied Senator O'Gorman.

"President Wilson believed that a nation loving justice, as I hope we love it, could not extend its favor to this medieval despot, cast up with all of his crimes upon his head as a steamship by the waters of a revolution otherwise hopeful and pure."

TRENCHES WON BY COLONIALS

Successful Advance Due to Gallant Attack.

Special Cable to The Washington Herald.

With the British Army in France, Aug. 24.—The successful advance south of the Leizre road, which has been made in the last few days, was due to the gallant work of the territorial troops who attacked the maze of German trenches and carried them by assault.

Linked with the redoubt itself already in British hands and immediately below Thiépval we are setting closer to the garrison there.

One of the most thrilling episodes of the attack was when the Royal Warwickshire regiment was held up on the right by a German strong point in which there came a stream of machine gunfire. The men lay down in front of it and held on until our guns got to work. Four times the machine came over the telephone asking whether the heavy guns should shell the place, but the colonel was afraid our men would be hit and refused the offer each time.

The colonel of the Warwickshires expected to see about twenty men come from the trench and throw up their hands. To his amazement six officers and 242 wounded Germans emerged.

HUGHES TALKS TO MORMONS

Addresses Political Throng in Utah Tabernacle.

(By the International News Service.)
Salt Lake City, Aug. 24.—President Hughes and persons greeted Charles E. Hughes in the Mormon tabernacle here tonight.

It was the first time that the tabernacle had been used for purely political purposes. A tendency on the part of the big crowd to restrain its enthusiasm was explained by Republican leaders as due to the fact that the tabernacle is a religious edifice. The fact of its use at all for this purpose is sufficient commentary on the political drift here in Utah.

Mr. Hughes' address at Ogden was devoted to a discussion of the tariff, money, and efficiency. Among the striking utterances were these:

"If American citizenship is ever held cheaply," he declared, "discussing the administration's foreign policy, 'we shall lose the motive force of progression.'"

"The administration left America to be murdered in Mexico by bandits after having refused to recognize Huerta," he added.
